

History on a Plate

Feast your eyes on our state's rich heritage with these themed plates. Borders feature native plants and animals, including yellow jessamine and swallowtail butterflies. Sixteen center motifs highlight people, places, and events, such as John C. Calhoun and Fort Sumter. Made of English bone china, each plate retails for $85. Visit www.southcarolinahistoryplates.com.

In a Tizzy for Jazz and Dizzy

Cheraw honors native son Dizzy Gillespie with three days of art and music October 17-19 for the annual South Carolina Jazz Festival. Regional musicians with a variety of jazz styles perform at different venues, including Dizzy's family homesite. Born in Cheraw in 1917, Dizzy is widely regarded as the father of modern jazz. Visit www.scjazzfestival.com for an event schedule and ticket information.

Living Green at Furman

Visit the Furman University campus to see The Cliffs Cottage, the latest in eco-conscious home ideas. Furman officials worked with Southern Living and more than 100 cutting-edge companies to ensure that the house reflects sustainability, from its bamboo flooring to low-flow fixtures. You'll find ticket information, directions, and virtual tours at www.furmancliffscottage.com.

Pick Your Click

You'll find neat info about our state on the World Wide Web. These are some of our favorite Palmetto State sites.

- For foodies: Restaurant critic and food writer Holly Herrick keeps Lowcountry gourmets in the know on good eating. Visit her blog at www.charlestonchow.blogspot.com.
- For literati: Stop by the South Carolina Center for the Book's site to check up on written word events, contests, and projects. Visit www.sccenterforthebook.org.
- For the health conscious: Eat Smart Move More South Carolina wants to pump you up. Check out www.eatsmartmovemore.org to find tips on getting family, church, and schools moving and shaking.
- For the cost-conscious environmentalist: Lower your energy bills by as much as 10% with tips from www.sustainabilityinstitutesc.org. The Sustainability Institute aims to balance people's needs with human impact on the planet.
- For the know-it-all: The date of Rosemary High School's Class of '68's reunion? The address of the Episcopal Church in Gaffney? The coastal marine forecast for Edisto Beach? You name it—the South Carolina Information Highway probably has it. Visit www.sciway.net.

Keep in Touch

If you have a story idea or comment to share about "South Carolina: People & Places," e-mail Patricia Wilens at pat\_wilens@timeinc.com.